

Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy applies to the services offered by this website or any website operated by Australian Country Party (ABN 48 929 380 854).

Australian Country Party recognises and respects a persons right to privacy and does not collect any personal information from people by browsing our website or social media. Information given intentionally by users through online forms or correspondence generated through links from the website may be kept in order to respond.

Membership information submitted from our website or posted forms are treated with the strictest of confidence and treated with respect with restricted access by party officials.

Australian Country Party will not pass on personal information to third parties without the consent of the person involved.

Disclaimer

Australian Country Party will make every attempt to ensure reliability and accuracy of data is kept on any publication by the party.

Australian Country Party accepts no responsibility or provides warranty for any personal information that has been unauthorised or accessed illegally .